ADVANCING HEALTH THROUGH JUSTICE

MLPB featured in Health Affairs on preventive law as preventive medicine

The blog features powerful learning from the national DULCE Learning Network and the Housing Prescriptions as Health Care randomized trial. MLPB's evidence-based team-facing legal partnering model animates both of these innovations.

Human-centered care must systemically account for people's legal risks, rights, and remedies; and empower care teams to be active partners in legal problem-solving in scope-of-practice-aligned ways.

MLPB equips communities of care with legal education and problem-solving insight that fosters prevention, health equity, and system change. Through training, consultation and technical assistance, we help teams and organizations understand their power to unlock access to health-promoting resources and legal protections.

At a household level, this capacity-building support disrupts the trajectory of a social, economic or environmental need into a legal – and health – crisis. At a population level, this work cultivates communities of care as powerful partners in system and policy change.
